STAGNATION

In the face of impending strikes—shut down of factories and near inauguration of trade killing tariff—Wall Street is active, a tale, each, "long green" has again been idle cash—"long green"—has again been changed for chromo-lithographs on a large scale. This activity, which has been going on for some time, affords an excellent opportunity for profitable speculation to some extent, and, as the market is so well supplied with chromos, and our facilities are unequalled for every kind of business in stocks, bonds, and provisions. The shrewd men of Wall street have put their wares on a higher priced plane and the demand has somewhat increased; if customers can be found, prices will be maintained, though goods are disposed of. Then crash. The active manipulation gives exceptional opportunities for speculation seldom witnessed and ought to be taken advantage of. Our offices make very pleasant headquarters when you visit these warm Summer days. All of town orders also promptly attended to, but discretionary accounts accepted. High call bonds for investors payable in gold also recommended.

THE STOCK MARKET

is in the hands of contending factions—the big bull market, who would persuade local bull contingent. The prices are cheap at their market figures, regardless of their earnings and the existing economic conditions, and the outlook is bright. The fact that the owners refuse to be persuaded that labor still is closing factories, and gold shipments are evidence of great prosperity. In the latter case are London and Chicago, who have been selling freely during the past week. The unfavorable showings have been ignored on the advance of their efforts will probably be cumulative, and the tide fairly turns. There will be further efforts to maintain and advance prices, and the market will be profitable for some time.

0 Crop prospects indicate a very large yield, reports from foreign grain-growing countries favorable; with continuance of climatic political conditions lower prices may be expected, and September wheat will probably prove a sale on rallies well down into the ties. We execute orders in minimum amounts of 10 shares of stocks and 1,000 bushels of wheat. Our market letters and pamphlets mailed free on request.
